

Important topics we should discuss with our adult children

Difficult, but important conversations

- Discuss who will make decisions for you if you are not able to speak for yourself.
- Talk about what “quality of life” means to you.
- Discuss, if you are in the end stage of a disease and have no chance of recovery, whether you would want:
 - CPR (cardio pulmonary resuscitation)
 - to be placed on a breathing machine
 - to be given artificial nutrition through a tube
- Talk with them about who will take care of you if you became seriously ill.

Advance Directives are legal documents used to instruct others about your future medical care wishes. Forms available at our website:
